1.35.13.1.1
(06-30-2023)
Background

- (1) Under 5 USC, Section 5584, an authorized official may waive recovery of overpayments resulting from erroneous payment to an employee of (1) pay or allowances or (2) travel, transportation, or relocation expenses and allowances. Use of the waiver authority is discretionary on the part of the authorized official. An employee's overpayment debt may be waived in whole or in part. A waiver decision must be based on a finding that collection would be against equity and good conscience and not in the best interests of the United States. An erroneous payment for which collection is waived is deemed to be a valid payment.
- (2) The heads of Executive agencies have full authority to waive the overpayment debts owed to their respective agency regardless of the amount of the debt. The head of each Executive agency is responsible for establishing waiver policies and standards and determining levels of approval. Agency policies must be consistent with statutory requirements. All waiver requests must be directed to the agency that made the erroneous payment resulting in an overpayment debt.

- (2) Factors the IRS considers when evaluating a debtor's waiver request of a government funded training debt or a student loan repayment include but are not limited to:
- a. Whether the situation presents extenuating circumstances.
  - b. Whether the debtor could have foreseen or anticipated the situation.
  - c. Whether the debtor acted to mitigate the loss to the IRS (such as a timely withdrawal from the course where the debtor obtained a tuition refund).
- (3) See Treasury Directive Publication 34-01, Waiving Claims Against Treasury Employees for Erroneous Payments, for additional evaluation criteria.

1.35.13.2.2

Waiver Approvals and Denials

- (1) If either the IRS or Treasury's DASHR/CHCO approves a waiver request:
- a. The waiver is effective on the original date the debt occurred. This has the effect of negating accumulated interest, administrative fees and penalties.

  - c. The IRS reports the amount of debt discharged on Form 1099-C, Cancellation of Debt, if such amount is $600 or more.
- (2) If either the IRS or Treasury's DASHR/CHCO denies a waiver request for an erroneous payment of pay and allowances, travel, transportation or relocation expenses and allowances or student loan repayment:
- a. The debtor has the right to appeal the decision. See IRM 1.35.13.6, Appealing the Denial of Waiver Requests for Pay and Allowances, Travel, Transportation and Relocation Expenses and Allowances.
  - b. Suspension of the debt collection effort continues during the appeal process. If the appeal is denied, the IRS will initiate or resume collection of the debt amount, including interest, administrative fees and penalties that accrued during the waiver review process.
- (3) Waiver requests after IRS employment separation:

Waiver request denied after separation from the IRS	Collection action enforced by offsetting any payments due the debtor or referral to Bureau of Fiscal Services
Waiver request granted after separation from IRS	All amounts collected toward debt (up to the amount waived) will be refunded to the debtor

Partial waiver granted after separation from IRS	Debtor is responsible for remaining debt balance to include accumulated interest, administrative fees and penalties on that remaining balance
