Dear :

This letter is our final determination that you don't qualify for exemption from federal income tax under Internal Revenue Code (IRC) Section 501(a) as an organization described in IRC Section 501(c)(3). Recently, we sent you a proposed adverse determination in response to your application. The proposed adverse determination explained the facts, law, and basis for our conclusion, and it gave you 30 days to file a protest. Because we didn't receive a protest within the required 30 days, the proposed determination is now final.

Because you don't qualify as a tax-exempt organization under IRC Section 501(c)(3), donors generally can't deduct contributions to you under IRC Section 170.

We may notify the appropriate state officials of our determination, as required by IRC Section 6104(c), by sending them a copy of this final letter along with the proposed determination letter.

You must file the federal income tax forms for the tax years shown above within 30 days from the date of this letter unless you request an extension of time to file. For further instructions, forms, and information, visit www.irs.gov.

We'll make this final adverse determination letter and the proposed adverse determination letter available for public inspection after deleting certain identifying information, as required by IRC Section 6110. Read the enclosed Letter 437, Notice of Intention to Disclose - Rulings, and review the two attached letters that show our proposed deletions. If you disagree with our proposed deletions, follow the instructions in the Letter 437 on how to notify us. If you agree with our deletions, you don't need to take any further action.

If you have questions about this letter, you can call the contact person shown above. If you have questions about your federal income tax status and responsibilities, call our customer service number at 800-829-1040 (TTY 800-829-4933 for deaf or hard of hearing) or customer service for businesses at 800-829-4933.

Sincerely,

Dear _____ :

We considered your application for recognition of exemption from federal income tax under Internal Revenue Code (IRC) Section 501(a). We determined that you don't qualify for exemption under IRC Section 501(c)(3). This letter explains the reasons for our conclusion. Please keep it for your records.

Issues

Do you qualify for exemption under IRC Section 501(c)(3)? No, for the reasons stated below.

Facts

You submitted Form 1023-EZ, Streamlined Application for Recognition of Exemption Under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code.

You attest that you were an unincorporated association on B, in the state of C. You attest that you have the necessary organizing document, that your organizing document limits your purposes to one or more exempt purposes within the meaning of IRC Section 501(c)(3), that your organizing document does not expressly empower you to engage in activities, other than an insubstantial part, that are not in furtherance of one or more exempt purposes, and that your organizing document contains the dissolution provision required under IRC Section 501(c)(3).

You attest that you are organized and operated exclusively to further charitable purposes. You attest that you have not conducted and will not conduct prohibited activities under IRC Section 501(c)(3). Specifically, you attest you will:

- Refrain from supporting or opposing candidates in political campaigns in any way

- Ensure that your net earnings do not inure in whole or in part to the benefit of private shareholders or individuals
- Not further non-exempt purposes (such as purposes that benefit private interests) more than insubstantially
- Not be organized or operated for the primary purpose of conducting a trade or business that is not related to your exempt purpose(s)
- Not devote more than an insubstantial part of your activities attempting to influence legislation or, if you made a Section 501(h) election, not normally make expenditures in excess of expenditure limitations outlined in Section 501(h)
- Not provide commercial-type insurance as a substantial part of your activities

You stated on your Form 1023-EZ that you are a member driven organization that assesses the needs of local business owners in effort to strengthen and support small rural community businesses, stimulate, and advocate for business growth, development, and opportunities, and promote awareness and preservation.

Detailed information was subsequently requested. You stated that you will conduct a fundraiser event with plates of food for sale, have door prizes, and have local vendors. You will host an event where children can take pictures with Mr. & Mrs. Claus, receive a gift, and have local vendors. You will conduct two parades, one for Christmas and one for 4th of July. You will provide scholarships for a high school senior to be applied to the college of their choice and be named D for the year. You will also select a business of the year to be announced to the public, given a banner, plaque, have a full article written about the business in the local newspaper, and promote the business on all social media platforms you are able to. You also do a business spotlight of the month to recognize and promote local businesses. You have a website you are in the process of building to be able to provide a business directory to support your local small-town businesses. You also host mixers for your local businesses to mingle and get to know their neighbors and customers. All events are hosted annually.

Volunteers, officers of your organization, and/or members of your board participate in your activities. The time and percentage of time on your activities varies depending on how much detail each event entails. Your bigger events you plan all year working a few days out of the week on it. Your smaller events take a couple of months to plan and coordinate with local officials. All your resources go back into planning events and providing support for your local businesses. You strictly have volunteers, and no one is being paid. You charge an annual fee to become a member. For businesses it is E a year, for families and individuals is it F a year. You decided these fees with your board and have included them in your by-laws and can only be changed by a majority vote.

Law

IRC Section 501(c)(3) provides, in part, for the recognition of exemption from federal income tax of organizations that are organized and operated exclusively for charitable, religious, or educational purposes, in which no part of the net earnings inures the benefit of any private shareholder or individual.

Treasury Regulation Section 1.501(c)(3)-1(a)(1) provides that, for an organization to be exempt and described in IRC Section 501(c)(3), that organization must be both organized and operated exclusively for one or more of the purposes specified in such section. If an organization fails to meet either the organizational test or the operational test, it is not exempt.

Treas. Reg. Section 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(1) provides that an organization will be regarded as operated exclusively for one or more exempt purposes only if it primarily engages only in activities that accomplishes one or more of such exempt purposes specified in Section 501(c)(3). An organization will not be so regarded as being exempt if more than an insubstantial part of its activities is not in furtherance of an exempt purpose.

Treas. Reg. Section 1.501(c)(3)-1(d)(2) defines the term charitable as including the relief of the poor and distressed or of the underprivileged, and the promotion of social welfare by organizations designed to lessen neighborhood tensions, to eliminate prejudice and discrimination, or to combat community deterioration. The term "charitable" also includes lessening of the burdens of government.

Revenue Ruling 71-505, 1971-2 C.B. 232, describes a city bar association, exempt under IRC Section 501(c)(6), that could not be reclassified as an educational or charitable organization exempt under Section 501(c)(3). Although the organization had a number of charitable and educational activities, a substantial portion of the organization's activities were directed at the promotion and protection of the practice of law and therefore furthered the common business purpose of its members.

In Better Business Bureau of Washington D.C., Inc. v. United States, 326 U.S. 279 (1945), the Supreme Court stated that the presence of a single nonexempt purpose, if substantial in nature, will preclude exemption under IRC Section 501(c)(3) regardless of the number or importance of statutorily exempt purposes.

In St. Louis Science Fiction Limited v. Commissioner, 49 TCM 1126, 1985-162, the Tax Court held that a science fiction society failed to qualify for tax-exempt status under IRC Section 501(c)(3). Although many of the organization's functions at its annual conventions (the organization's principal activity) were educational, its overall agenda was not exclusively educational. A substantial portion of convention affairs were social and recreational in nature.

Application of law

A ruling on exempt status is based solely on facts and representations in the administrative file. You have not provided supporting documentation to establish you meet the requirements of IRC Section 501(c)(3). IRC Section 501(c)(3) sets forth two main tests for qualification for exempt status. As stated in Treas. Reg. 1.501(c)(3)-1(a)(1), an organization must be both organized and operated exclusively for purposes described in IRC Section 501(c)(3).

You do not meet the operational test under IRC Section 501(c)(3) because you are not operating exclusively for charitable purposes as required under Treas. Reg. Section 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(1). You are providing private benefit to the members of the organization and promoting local businesses. As provided in Treas. Reg. Section 1.501(c)(3)-1(d)(2), you have not established that your operations accomplish exclusively charitable purposes.

You are similar to the organization in Rev. Rul. 71-505 because even though you are conducting charitable activities, a substantial portion of the organization's activities are directed at a nonexempt purpose.

As held in Better Business Bureau of Washington, D.C., Inc. v. United States, a single nonexempt purpose, if substantial, will preclude tax exemption under IRC Section 501(c)(3). Your purposes are to benefit your members and promote local businesses, which is a significant nonexempt purpose. Therefore, you are not operating exclusively for an exempt purpose as described in Section 501(c)(3).

You are like the organizations described in St. Louis Science Fiction Limited v. Commissioner because even though you are providing scholarships to high school seniors your overall agenda is not exclusively charitable. A substantial portion of activities are social and recreational in nature.

Conclusion

You do not meet the requirements for tax exemption under IRC Section 501(c)(3). You're operating for a substantial nonexempt purpose and serve the private benefits of your members. Accordingly, you do not meet the operational test because you are operated for substantial, nonexempt purposes.

If you agree

If you agree with our proposed adverse determination, you don't need to do anything. If we don't hear from you within 30 days, we'll issue a final adverse determination letter. That letter will provide information on your income tax filing requirements.

If you don't agree

You have a right to protest if you don't agree with our proposed adverse determination. To do so, send us a protest within 30 days of the date of this letter. You must include:

- Your name, address, employer identification number (EIN), and a daytime phone number
- A statement of the facts, law, and arguments supporting your position
- A statement indicating whether you are requesting an Appeals Office conference
- The signature of an officer, director, trustee, or other official who is authorized to sign for the organization or your authorized representative
- The following declaration:

For an officer, director, trustee, or other official who is authorized to sign for the organization:
Under penalties of perjury, I declare that I have examined this request, or this modification to the request, including accompanying documents, and to the best of my knowledge and belief, the request or the modification contains all relevant facts relating to the request, and such facts are true, correct, and complete.

Your representative (attorney, certified public accountant, or other individual enrolled to practice before the IRS) must file a Form 2848, Power of Attorney and Declaration of Representative, with us if they haven't already done so. You can find more information about representation in Publication 947, Practice Before the IRS and Power of Attorney.

We'll review your protest statement and decide if you gave us a basis to reconsider our determination. If so, we'll continue to process your case considering the information you provided. If you haven't given us a basis for reconsideration, we'll send your case to the Appeals Office and notify you. You can find more information in Publication 892, How to Appeal an IRS Determination on Tax-Exempt Status.

If you don't file a protest within 30 days, you can't seek a declaratory judgment in court later because the law requires that you use the IRC administrative process first (IRC Section 7428(b)(2)).

Where to send your protest

Send your protest, Form 2848, if applicable, and any supporting documents to the applicable address:

U.S. mail:
