Dear :

This letter is our final determination that you don't qualify for exemption from federal income tax under Internal Revenue Code (IRC) Section 501(a) as an organization described in IRC Section 501(c)(3). Recently, we sent you a proposed adverse determination in response to your application. The proposed adverse determination explained the facts, law, and basis for our conclusion, and it gave you 30 days to file a protest. Because we didn't receive a protest within the required 30 days, the proposed determination is now final.

Because you don't qualify as a tax-exempt organization under IRC Section 501(c)(3), donors generally can't deduct contributions to you under IRC Section 170.

We may notify the appropriate state officials of our determination, as required by IRC Section 6104(c), by sending them a copy of this final letter along with the proposed determination letter.

You must file the federal income tax forms for the tax years shown above within 30 days from the date of this letter unless you request an extension of time to file. For further instructions, forms, and information, visit www.irs.gov.

We'll make this final adverse determination letter and the proposed adverse determination letter available for public inspection after deleting certain identifying information, as required by IRC Section 6110. Read the enclosed Letter 437, Notice of Intention to Disclose - Rulings, and review the two attached letters that show our proposed deletions. If you disagree with our proposed deletions, follow the instructions in the Letter 437 on how to notify us. If you agree with our deletions, you don't need to take any further action.

If you have questions about this letter, you can call the contact person shown above. If you have questions about your federal income tax status and responsibilities, call our customer service number at 800-829-1040 (TTY 800-829-4933 for deaf or hard of hearing) or customer service for businesses at 800-829-4933.

Sincerely,

Dear Applicant:

We considered your application for recognition of exemption from federal income tax under Internal Revenue Code (IRC) Section 501(a). We determined that you don't qualify for exemption under IRC Section 501(c)(3). This letter explains the reasons for our conclusion. Please keep it for your records.

Issues

Do you qualify for exemption under IRC Section 501(c)(3)? No, for the reasons stated below.

Facts

You submitted Form 1023-EZ, Streamlined Application for Recognition of Exemption Under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code.

You attest that you were incorporated on V, in the state of W. You attest that you have the necessary organizing document, that your organizing document limits your purposes to one or more exempt purposes within the meaning of the IRC Section 501(c)(3), that your organizing document does not expressly empower you to engage in activities, other than an insubstantial part, that are not in furtherance of one or more exempt purposes, and that your organizing document contains the dissolution provision required under Section 501(c)(3).

You attest that you are organized and operated exclusively to further educational purposes. You attest that you have not conducted and will not conduct prohibited activities under IRC Section 501(c)(3). Specifically, you attest you will:

- Refrain from supporting or opposing candidates in political campaigns in any way
- Ensure that your net earnings do not inure in whole or in part to the benefit of private shareholders or individuals

- Not further non-exempt purposes (such as purposes that benefit private interests) more than insubstantially
- Not be organized or operated for the primary purpose of conducting a trade or business that is not related to your exempt purpose(s)
- Not devote more than an insubstantial part of your activities attempting to influence legislation or, if you made a Section 501(h) election, not normally make expenditures in excess of expenditure limitations outlined in Section 501(h)
- Not provide commercial-type insurance as a substantial part of your activities

Detailed information was subsequently requested.

You stated your mission is to provide scholarships to the descendants of the X family. To qualify for your scholarship the individual must be a descendant of X family, register and attend the family reunion, and be enrolled in a college undergraduate program. You will provide up to Z scholarships per year. If there are Z or less candidates both will receive a scholarship. If there are more than Z candidates you will randomly select the recipients based on a number lottery system. Any candidate in their last year of their undergraduate program will have precedence over anyone else not in their last year.

Scholarship funds are paid directly to the recipients. Recipients are not required to provide verification the funds were used for educational expenses. Board members/officers of the organization are not eligible to apply for the scholarship.

Law

IRC Section 501(c)(3) provides for the recognition of exemption of organizations that are organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or other purposes as specified in the statute. No part of the net earnings may inure to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual.

Treasury Regulation Section 1.501(c)(3)-1(a)(1) states that, in order to be exempt as an organization described in IRC Section 501(c)(3), an organization must be both organized and operated exclusively for one or more of the purposes specified in such section. If an organization fails to meet either the organizational test or the operational test, it is not exempt.

Treas. Reg. Section 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(1) provides that an organization will be regarded as operated exclusively for one or more exempt purposes only if it engages primarily in activities which accomplish one or more of such exempt purposes specified in IRC Section 501(c)(3). An organization will not be so regarded if more than an insubstantial part of its activities is not in furtherance of an exempt purpose.

Treas. Reg. Section 1.501(c)(3)-1(d)(1)(ii) states that an organization is not organized or operated exclusively for exempt purposes unless it serves a public rather than a private interest. It must not be operated for the benefit of designated individuals or the persons who created it.

Revenue Ruling 67-367, 1967-2 C.B. 188, describes a nonprofit organization whose sole activity was the operation of a "scholarship plan" for making payments to pre-selected, specifically named individuals. The organization did not qualify for exemption from federal income tax under IRC Section 501(c)(3) because it was serving private rather than public or charitable interests.

Rev. Rul. 69-257, 1969-1 C.B. 151, held that an organization providing scholarships to recipients selected from a broad class of applicants on the basis of scholastic standing, qualified for exemption under section 501(c)(3) of the Code because it was engaged in the charitable activity of advancing education.

In Local Union 712, I.B.E.W. Scholarship Trust Fund v. C.I.R., T.C. Memo. 1983-76, the Tax Court upheld the Service's position that the organization was not operated exclusively for exempt purposes under section 501(c)(3) of the Code, since it was serving the private interests of its members.

In Better Business Bureau of Washington, D.C., Inc. v. U.S., 326 U.S. 279 (1945), the court held that the presence of a single non-exempt purpose, if substantial in nature, will preclude exemption, regardless of the number or importance of statutorily exempt purposes.

Application of law

IRC Section 501(c)(3) and Treas. Reg. Section 1.501(c)(3)-1(a)(1) set forth two main tests for an organization to be recognized as exempt. An organization must be both organized and operated exclusively for purposes described in IRC Section 501(c)(3). Based on the information you provided in your application and supporting documentation, we conclude you do not meet the operational test.

You do not meet the requirements of Treas. Reg. Section 1.501(c)(3)-1(c)(1) because more than an insubstantial part of your activities do not further an exempt purpose. In contrast to Treas. Reg. Section 1.501(c)(3)-1(d)(1)(ii) your activities benefit designated individuals, the family members of X. By providing scholarship assistance only to descendants of X's family you are operating for the family's private interests.

You are like the organization in Rev. Rul. 67-367 because you were formed to benefit the descendants of one particular family. By paying scholarships to specifically named individuals, you are serving private rather than public charitable interests. This precludes you from qualifying for exemption under IRC Section 501 (c)(3).

You are distinguishable from the organization described in Rev. Rul. 69-257, 1969-1 C.B. 151. That ruling held that an organization that provided scholarships to recipients selected from a broad class of applicants on the basis of scholastic standing, qualified for exemption under section 501(c)(3) of the Code because it was engaged in the charitable activity of advancing education. In contrast, your class of applicants is very limited with no criteria to demonstrate need or merit.

You are similar to Local Union 712, I.B.E.W. Scholarship Trust Fund because the benefits you provide flow primarily to the private interests, the descendants of X, rather than the general public.

As provided by the Supreme Court in Better Business Bureau of Washington, D.C., Inc., the presence of a single nonexempt purpose, if substantial, will destroy the exemption. You are operating for the private interests of a family that constitutes a substantial non-exempt purpose, which precludes exemption under IRC Section 501(c)(3).

Conclusion

You do not meet the requirements under IRC Section 501(c)(3). You are operating for the private interests of the X family rather than the general public which constitutes a substantial non-exempt purpose. Accordingly, you do not qualify for exemption under IRC Section 501(c)(3).

If you agree

If you agree with our proposed adverse determination, you don't need to do anything. If we don't hear from you within 30 days, we'll issue a final adverse determination letter. That letter will provide information on your income tax filing requirements.

If you don't agree

You have a right to protest if you don't agree with our proposed adverse determination. To do so, send us a protest within 30 days of the date of this letter. You must include:

- Your name, address, employer identification number (EIN), and a daytime phone number
- A statement of the facts, law, and arguments supporting your position
- A statement indicating whether you are requesting an Appeals Office conference
- The signature of an officer, director, trustee, or other official who is authorized to sign for the organization or your authorized representative
- The following declaration:

For an officer, director, trustee, or other official who is authorized to sign for the organization:

Under penalties of perjury, I declare that I have examined this request, or this modification to the request, including accompanying documents, and to the best of my knowledge and belief, the request or the modification contains all relevant facts relating to the request, and such facts are true, correct, and complete.

Your representative (attorney, certified public accountant, or other individual enrolled to practice before the IRS) must file a Form 2848, Power of Attorney and Declaration of Representative, with us if they haven't already done so. You can find more information about representation in Publication 947, Practice Before the IRS and Power of Attorney.

We'll review your protest statement and decide if you gave us a basis to reconsider our determination. If so, we'll continue to process your case considering the information you provided. If you haven't given us a basis for reconsideration, we'll send your case to the Appeals Office and notify you. You can find more information in Publication 892, How to Appeal an IRS Determination on Tax-Exempt Status.

If you don't file a protest within 30 days, you can't seek a declaratory judgment in court later because the law requires that you use the IRC administrative process first (IRC Section 7428(b)(2)).

Where to send your protest

Send your protest, Form 2848, if applicable, and any supporting documents to the applicable address:
